Stores show city's sales tax potential

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Substantial increases in sales tax revenues for Granite City—already averaging from $15,000 to $20,000 per month—have resulted since the opening of additional shopping centers in the Nameki area, a survey of state sales tax allocations over the past 20 months showed today.

Records in the office of City Treasurer Paul Rutledge list sales tax revenue as averaging from $65,000 to $70,000 per month prior to opening of two of the newest shopping areas.

During the latter part of 1974, monthly sales tax allotments to Granite City ranged from $82,062 to $92,049, with increased allotments becoming apparent following the openings of the two shopping centers.

Largest of the new stores and shopping areas to open within the past 14 months are the K-Mart store, which began operations in November 1973, and the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, which opened in mid-May 1974.

Both are in the Nameki area and in addition to a number of smaller stores and shops beginning business in that area over the past year.

While sales tax distributions to the city treasurer's office usually are made about two months after the month in which they are collected, revenue from this tax is indicative of highly increased business volume which is attributed generally by city officials to business growth in the Nameki area.

Cities receive sales tax allocations on the basis of 1 per cent of all sales.

Customers pay a total tax of 5 per cent, of which 4 per cent goes to the state and the other 1 per cent to the city in which the sales are made.

Some officials maintain that even greater sales volume and a resulting distribution of even more sales tax revenue to Granite City could be developed through construction of a proposed access road that would skirt the railroad right-of-way behind the Nameki shopping areas to the downtown area.

Such a roadway would ease traffic congestion on Nameki Road, presently the only access to the shopping areas.

Traffic problems in that area are cited as a deterrent to some shoppers who would patronize the area if congestion were not so great.

Records show that from February through October 1973, monthly sales tax allotments to Granite City ranged from $66,665 for the month of February, a seasonably slow

Suit filed

A suit was filed in Circuit Court last week by Tommie Lane, a Granite City restaurant operator, who seeks $100,000 in damages from the Press-Record based on its Dec. 5 issue.

The newspaper learned of the suit Thursday afternoon, and notice was served today, Lane is represented by James T. Williamson and Donald Grisham, attorneys with practices in Madison County.

The article, headlined "Fined $1,500 for shooting," reported the sentencing of Anthony Johnson, 27, of Pontoon Beach, in the May 14 shooting death of his wife, Mrs. Virginia Johnson, 21 years old.

Johnson and Lane are partners in the George Lindsey Family Steak House.

The news story referred to in the suit noted that Johnson was fined $1,500 and was sentenced to serve three years' conditional discharge.

It was related that Johnson admitted shooting his wife at their apartment and contended that a 22-caliber handgun discharged accidentally. An original charge of murder was reduced to involuntary manslaughter.

Lane was elsewhere in the School damaged

Extensive damage was caused during a burglary at Marshall School discovered at 6:15 a.m. today.

A basement door was broken open to gain entry. Refrigerators in the kitchen were forced open and meat, eggs, milk and ice cream were thrown over the floor.

Several iron urns and on the main floor were ransacked, and wall lockers were opened, with their contents thrown on the floor.

Offices were ransacked, clocks were torn off the walls and telephone cords were pulled from the walls.

A soft drink vending machine was pried open and an undetermined quantity of change was stolen.

Paint was sprayed in several areas of the first floor. In the basement, eggs were thrown on the walls and floor and electrical switch boxes were damaged.

School officials did not know this morning what had been stolen but were preparing a list of missing items.

Car strikes home

An accident in the 900 block of Niedringhaus Avenue at 1:35 p.m. Saturday resulted in property damage and injuries to one driver. The operator of a second vehicle involved reportedly fled the scene.

John E. Ingram, 46, of 1808a State St., sustained a cut to the right eyelid and abrasions to both legs when the eastbound auto he was driving allegedly was struck by a westbound car owned by Jerry L. Wise, 2923 Denver St.

The impact caused the throttle on Ingram's auto to stick and the vehicle crossed the curb, crashing through a metal fence and damaging the front of a residential building at 915 and 916a Niedringhaus Ave. owned by Sam Nighoshian.

Extensive damage was

Calvo studies speaker race

Interest in the Illinois House speaker election to be held Wednesday heightened during the weekend with disclosure that State Rep. Horace Calvo, Granite City Democrat, is among the potential contenders.

It is believed Calvo possibly could get the backing of Clyde Choate of Anna, front-runner for the speaker position if friends of Gov. Daniel Walker succeed in blocking Choate's election.

Major entries in the competition until now have included Choate, Rep. Gerald Bradley of Bloomington, Rep. Roland Tipton of Taylorville, Rep. James Londrigan of Springfield, Rep. William Redmond of Bensenville and Rep. John Matjewish of North Chicago.

Rep. Monroe Filim of Cahokia, a Granite City employee, said at a press conference Friday that he will back Bradley. Joining him in the

OVERPASS CONSTRUCTION. Work on the new grade separation that will carry Federal Aid Route 151 over the Granite City Army Installation Railroad tracks and Chicago Avenue began last week. Thirty-foot pilings are being set to support the bridge piers. At left, Norman Parrill, bridge superintendent for Hoeffken Brothers Construction Co. discusses the work Thursday with State Senator Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) who helped expedite the project. Construction of the overpass must be completed before the Great River Road (FA 151) can be extended from Niedringhaus Avenue to Main Street in Venice. The Venice underpass has been completed and relocation of Broadway now is under way.

Pontoon Board shakeup

The makeup of the Pontoon Beach Village Board may change drastically after the April 15 election, as the village clerk and two trustees have indicated they do not plan to file for re-election.

A new ticket, headed by Floyd David Moss, president of the Pontoon Beach Village Board, filed petitions of candidacy today for the April 15 election.

Heading the Village Improvement Progressive Party ticket are Moss for president and Trustee Loren Madison, seeking re-election.

Mrs. Mary Warren, 25 Tulip Ave., filed on the ticket for village clerk, and Duane Skinner, 24 Westgate Drive, present village treasurer, filed for one of the open trustee posts.

The Moss ticket was completed with the filing of Keith Biggs, 4015 Kasberg Lane, for trustee.

The five circulated petitions in the village during the weekend, obtained 60 signatures and filed this morning with the village clerk.

Mrs. Corrine Kreher, village clerk, and Trustee Marvin Ribbing both announced Thursday that they will not seek re-election.

Another trustee, Dr. Dean Rochester, has indicated he is "keeping the options open."

The only officials whose term are expiring and who have publicly said they will seek re-election are the president of the village board, Floyd David Moss, and Trustee Loren

'74 dry year—weatherwise

The highest total rainfall of any year in recent history was registered in the Quad-City area during 1974 when rainfall over the 12-month period reached 25.84 inches, according to rainfall statistics compiled by the Press-Record.

The aggregate rainfall from January through December 1974 was 8.61 inches under the normal fall of 34.45 inches for this area, and was 15.88 inches less than the total rainfall of 41.72 inches recorded in the area during 1973.

As in most previous months of 1974, December also recorded well under normal rainfall, with a total of 1.16 inches. Normal fall for December is 1.97 inches. The December rainfall included 50 of the total amount on the last day of the month. The month opened on Dec. 1 with a 2.5-inch snowfall, recorded as 2.5 of an inch precipitation.

December rainfall also was recorded on Dec. 7 with .04 of an inch; Dec. 8, with .03 of an inch; Dec. 11, with .11 of an inch; Dec. 12, with .11 of an inch; Dec. 15, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 16, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 17, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 18, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 19, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 20, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 21, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 22, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 23, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 24, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 25, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 26, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 27, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 28, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 29, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 30, with .05 of an inch; Dec. 31, with .05 of an inch.

A trace of rainfall, an amount too light to be registered, was recorded on seven days of the month.

Heaviest rainfall of any single month during 1974 was recorded in May with 4.48 inches, compared to a 3.73-inch normal for that month. Second heaviest rainfall for any one month was in February, with 3.16 inches. Rainfall by months during 1974, with the normal fall in parenthesis, was as follows: January 1.88 inches (1.98); February 3.16 (2.04); March 2.74 (2.34); April 1.68 (3.71); May 4.48 (3.73); June 1.92 (4.27); July .84 (3.20); August 2.62 (3.02); September 2.31 (2.76); October 1.26 (2.86); November .05 (2.57); December 1.16 (1.97).

Drive mounts to improve safety at West Pontoon rail crossing

Long waits for passing trains and crossing gates which frequently malfunction primarily are to blame for motorists "trying to beat approaching trains" on the West Pontoon Road railroad tracks, Mrs. Fleeta Staicoff said this weekend.

Mrs. Staicoff, the mother of Toby Staicoff, 17, who was fatally injured in a car-train crash at the West Pontoon crossing on Nov. 3, 1973, is spearheading a campaign to improve safety measures at the busy crossing.

At the same location on Dec. 28, Miss Gwenn Ellen Oliver, 17, of 2108 Bryan Ave. was killed in an auto-train collision.

About 35 people gathered at the crossing at 10 a.m. Sunday, many carrying signs, and halted motorists using the West Pontoon crossing, asking them to sign a petition requesting improvements be made to crossing safety devices.

The petition, now bearing 718 signatures, will be turned over to the 3rd-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce "to see what help they can give the project," it was learned this morning.

Mrs. Staicoff said she started her petition drive last June, but "hadn't had too much response" until the most recent fatality at the West Pontoon Road Crossing.

Since the death of Miss Oliver,

"response has been staggering," Mrs. Staicoff said. "There have been a number of accidents at the crossing that were not fatal, but they could have been fatal," she added.

Yesterday, to emphasize their cause, the drive organizers parked two vehicles at the tracks, facing opposite directions, each equipped with a poster inviting passing motorists to sign the petition.

Mrs. Dorothy Parker, who lives close to the crossing, said during the past year "more and more drivers are traveling around the crossing gates when they are down."

"I don't know if it is because traffic has increased with the new shopping areas, but it is much worse than last year," she commented.

"People get really fed up waiting to cross when the gates are not working properly, which is quite frequently," Mrs. Parker said. "When traveling from west to east the large tanks adjacent to the tracks block the view of an approaching train on the first and second tracks, she explained.

The Amtrak passenger train that reportedly moves 60 to 75 miles per hour along that stretch of line, usually travels along the second track from the crossing's western approach.

"Many times I have seen the police out here directing traffic across the tracks due to the gates not working," she said.

Mrs. Nancy Marcum, also a resident of West Pontoon Road, said the train speed is "atrocious" and that vision is obstructed from the western approach.

"If the gates are not working properly one time, people start going around them the next time," she noted. "And, frequently they don't work," she added.

Area residents report that a railroad crew must be dispatched from Highland to effect repairs to the crossing gates. "It takes the crew about 1 1/2 hours to arrive and sometimes longer," one person said.

Trains often stop near the crossing to change crews, one woman reported. "Meanwhile, the gates are down and the drivers can see that the train isn't moving," she added.

Mrs. Parker suggested an overhead tower, similar to the one at the West 20th Street crossing, be erected at West Pontoon Road. "You don't see many drivers going around the gates on 20th Street," she said.

Mrs. Reidelberger named assessor

Mrs. Margaret Reidelberger, 1240 Klein St., Venice, was appointed by the Venice Town Board Friday night as township assessor to fill the two-year term of her husband, the late Frank Reidelberger Jr. The term expires in 1977.

Mrs. Reidelberger, who was elected township assessor in the spring of 1973 after serving as town collector for 24 years, died suddenly on Dec. 28. She suffered an apparent heart attack while sitting in the living room of her home.

The appointment was made during a special meeting of the town board, according to Christ Costoff, township supervisor.

2 arrested; prisoner at jail falls

Two Granite City men have been arrested in connection with thefts of two vehicles and allegedly improper display of license plates on one of the vehicles and another car.

Carl O. Nightwine, 22, of 4003 North St., has been charged with a felony count of theft in connection with the car theft of Larry Blincoe, Belleville, from the parking lot of Kozak's Market, 2850 Namecki Road, Oct. 7, 1974. He was arrested Friday at the Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville after he allegedly drove the car there.

It is contended that the auto bore one license plate belonging to Robert F. Perigo, 24, of 2700 Denver St., and Nightwine was charged with having a fictitious license plate.

Officers went to Perigo's home and said they found the matching license plate on an auto in front of the house. The auto allegedly had been purchased by Perigo Nov. 1, but the registration had not been changed it is asserted.

Perigo was charged with two counts of having fictitious license plates and with not having valid registration for his car.

Nightwine was found lying on the floor of his jail cell here at 5:30 p.m. yesterday with a strip from a blanket tied to his neck.

Another strip from the blanket was tied to a lighting fixture on the roof of the jail cell; officers said the strip had apparently broken when Nightwine put his weight on it.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was examined, and then was returned to jail.

Investigate fire

Authorities are investigating a fire which caused about $250 damage to a condemned and vacant house at 2156 Washington Avenue at 6:30 p.m. yesterday.

Officials said they found a can of coal oil which they believe had been poured on the basement floor and ignited. The fire damaged the basement and wiring.

Neighbors reported seeing a man fleeing from the house a short time before the fire was discovered. Firefighters were on the scene 45 minutes.

Good response to employment offer

"We were very well satisfied with the response," W. F. Erickson, personnel manager for Central Hardware, said today in reference to the number of prospective employees who answered the firm's advertisement in Thursday's Press-Record.

Several local residents who applied for a job at Central Hardware's newest store in Creashear's Shopping Center, Namecki and Pontoon roads, estimated more than 1,000 persons responded to the call for applicants.

A total of 115 positions was filled, Erickson said today. "A few of our present employees will be transferred to the new store, but very few," he added.

Many of those applying here were students and housewives seeking part-time positions, he noted. "We did fill our job requirements and expect to start stocking the shelves later this month," Erickson said.

The store is scheduled to open in late February. An opening date will be announced soon.

Question 2 in shooting probe

Pontoon Beach police this morning were questioning two men being held in the Granite City Jail and said they expected to file charges today against the two in connection with the shooting Nov. 29 of Charles Ragan, 31, of 15 Lakeview Drive, Pontoon Beach.

Ragan is recuperating from his wounds. He said he had been lying on the couch watching television and apparently fell asleep when he heard a shot and felt pain. He said he thought he saw a man leave his house and saw a car drive away.

The Pontoon Beach officers said they believed the man who shot the gun was among those they were questioning today. The other man was suspected of having assisted.

Jewelry sent from Vietnam is stolen

A downstairs entrance door and the door to the apartment of Loretta Rose, 2430 (rear) Madison Ave., were forced open by a burglar who ransacked the apartment, she reported at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Among the missing items are a jade and gold necklace, earrings and bracelet. The jewelry was a gift sent to Mrs. Rose by her son, James Rehmus, while the latter was serving on his fifth tour of duty in Vietnam.

"The jewelry has great sentimental value to me," she said today. Mrs. Rose recalled that the gift came shortly after a malicious phone call informed her that Rehmus was missing in action, a call which proved to be false.

Mrs. Rose is offering a reward for return of the jewelry. She may be contacted at 1-314-438-7950 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

CAMPER BURGLARIZED

Items valued at about $220 were stolen from the camper of Joseph Gavanag, Herdon, Va., parked at the KOA Campgrounds on West Chain of Rocks Road in Mitchell, it was reported Friday morning.

Entry was gained by removing a plexiglass window. Taken were two tape players, a clock-radio, two cameras and a carton of cigarettes.

SHOPLIFTER FLEES

Area police were alerted and converged on routes leading from downtown Granite City at 7:50 p.m. Friday, but were unable to locate a shoplifter who left the Leader Department Store, 19th and State streets, with a woman's sports outfit valued at $37. The man entered an auto occupied by a woman and fled from the area.

HOUSE BURGLARY

Ruben Street, 274 Stratford Lane, reported to the sheriff's department that between 5:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. Friday the front door of his home was kicked open. Taken was a piggy bank with about $30 in it and $100 worth of Kennedy silver half dollars.

NEW AUTOS LOOTED

The trunk locks were "punched out" on three new 1975 autos and the spare tires and hubcaps from each vehicle were removed. It was reported at 10 a.m. Friday by operators of Woodrome Oldsmobile, 1965 Madison Ave. Value of the missing items is $620.

JAMES NEWSOME
New Detective

Madison County Sheriff's Deputy James Newsome, 29, of 116 Grenzer Homes, Madison, was promoted Friday to the rank of detective, Sheriff John Maerz announced.

Newsome is a lifelong resident of Madison and graduated in 1963 from Madison High School. He was employed as a chairman for the Castings Division of General Steel Industries from 1963 to 1973 when the plant here closed.

He went to work as a deputy July 1, 1973, after completing a police training institute course at the University of Illinois, Champaign.

Newsome presently is attending classes part-time at Belleville Area College, working toward his associate degree in law enforcement.

He and his wife, Lucille, have two sons, James 7, and Derrick, 9, both at home.

Liability question highly technical

What do you do if an injury happens to you or to a member of your family while using a manufactured product which might have been defective?

The first thing to do, of course, is to rush the injured party to the hospital or call a doctor and render any emergency aid that may be required.

That much is obvious. What is not so obvious, points out the Illinois State Bar Association, is the importance of preserving the product itself and any evidence that a defect in it may have been the cause of or contributed to the accident.

It may be difficult to think of gathering "legal evidence" during the trauma and emotional upheaval of an accident, but it is important that this be done as soon as possible and certainly before such evidence is lost or discarded.

The ISBA cites the case of a man who was injured when a tire of his car apparently blew out, causing the car to overturn. Later, he read a report which claimed the manufacturer of that particular tire had changed production methods in order to achieve a "softer ride" and thereafter its tires had failed by the thousands.

The man sued the manufacturer alleging his injury was due to a defective tire. In the meantime, however, the car—including the tires—had been junked and demolished. He lost his case for lack of evidence.

It is, of course, important to see a lawyer as soon after the accident as possible. One of his first steps will be to account for and preserve evidence concerning the accident and if this has already been done, so much the better.

Another reason for consulting a lawyer is to get his expert judgment as to the liability of the product's manufacturer and the rights of the accident victim. Unfortunately, some

Pontoon Beach police organizing Post 255

The Pontoon Beach Police department is organizing a law enforcement Explorer post for young men between the ages of 14 and 21 interested in a law enforcement career. The group will meet today at 7:30 p.m. at the Pontoon Beach Police department.

An organizational meeting was held last week and temporary officers elected were: Don Rea, president; Scott Matyas, vice-president; Bob Morgan, secretary, and Jim Laughlin, treasurer.

Juvenile Officer Donald Patrick will serve as advisor. Members of the adult committee include Chief of Police Rosewell Bennett Jr., Sgt. Harold Denham, Mayor Floyd David Moss and Fire Chief Arnold Rutherford.

The post number will be 255, which is the police radio call numbers.

This is the third Explorer

Post with a law enforcement specialty to be organized in the Quad-Cities. Explorer Post 104, sponsored by the Madison police department, was started six years ago and has become the largest and most active such group in the mid-west. Two years ago, with the assistance of Post 104, the Granite City Police department organized the second law enforcement post, 10-33.

Local volunteer Explorer leaders assisting with the organization of the new Explorer Post 255 are Dr. F. Scott Hendrickson, chairman Uniwah (Quad-Cities) Explorer Committee; Dr. Jack Miller, chairman-elect Uniwah District; Officer Glenn Wright, advisor of Post 10-33; Tom Hooks, associate advisor of Explorer Post 104, and W. F. "Mick" Strange, vice-president of the Cahokia Mound Council in charge of the Explorer division.

Illinois farmer who was injured when a chip from a hammer's metal head flew into his face. The farmer was pounding metal parts while connecting a plow to a tractor and the manufacturer contended this was a misuse of the product—a carpenter's hammer designed for wood work. It pointed out that during 11 months use on the farm the hammer head also had become "case hardened" and likely to chip in such misuse. The farmer said he was only doing what other farmers did, using similar hammers without mishap. He won his damage suit.

In this case, the ISBA said, the manufacturer knew that its product, while perfect and unlikely to chip when new, would become defective and that chipping might be reasonably expected as a result of a use that could be anticipated.

State's marginal Congressional districts could see '76 reversal

By LESTER BELL

Washington Bureau
Either as an incumbent or a challenger, a candidate for Congress who wins by no more than 55 per cent must feel both uneasy and grateful.

"Historically," mused an aide to an Illinois veteran in the house, "fifty-five per cent is the break-off point."

"In the past, if funds were available, the Congressional campaign committee gave extra money to marginal candidates in their next election."

"I would concur in that," said another longtime Illinois observer on Capitol Hill. "It's a good idea to toss extra money into those campaigns."

If a victory by 55 per cent or less is, by widely-accepted definition, "marginal," then the Illinois Congressional election in November 1974 produced eight such narrow winners—two freshman Democrats, one freshman Republican, one former Democratic congressman returning, and four Republican incumbents.

The marginal districts that developed in the last election included: The Third, where Democrat Martin A. Russo, a freshman, won 51 per cent to Republican Robert P. Hanrahan's 49 per cent.

The Sixth, where Republican Henry J. Hyde, a freshman, won 53.5 per cent to Democrat Edward W. Hanrahan's 46.7 per cent.

The Tenth, where Democrat Abner J. Mikva, a former congressman, won 51.3 per cent to Republican incumbent Samuel H. Young's 48.7 per cent. Young had wrested Mikva's seat from him in 1972.

The Thirteenth, where Republican incumbent Robert McClory won 52.9 per cent to Democrat Stanley W. Beedham's 47.1 per cent.

STRONGARMED
James Parrott, 38, of 323a Madison Ave., Madison, was admitted for observation to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 6:50 p.m. Wednesday after he was struck and robbed of his wallet. He was found sitting on the ground in front of the laundromat at 321 Madison Ave.

The Fifteenth, where Democrat Tim L. Hall, a freshman, won 53.3 per cent to Republican Clifford D. Carlson's 46.7 per cent.

The Seventeenth, where Republican incumbent George M. O'Brien won 51.6 per cent to Democrat John J. Houlihan's 48.4 per cent.

The Twentieth, where Republican incumbent Paul Findley won 54.9 per cent to Democrat Peter F. Mack's 45.1 per cent.

Capitol Hill's sprightly weekly tabloid, "Roll Call," surveyed the marginal districts that are sending members to the 94th Congress starting this month and found 52 freshmen among the 114 marginal winners.

Freshmen—and there were 91 new House members all told elected this year—traditionally have the toughest time hanging onto their seats.

Old pols, observing newcomers come and go, are already saying that many of the freshmen are "two-termers." They'll serve their "first term and last term" in the 94th Congress.

Roll Call sees some basis of fact in the Hill's cynical humor: 1. Freshmen accounted for only a third of the 68 winners from marginal districts in 1972 as against the 52 out of 91, or more than half, this year.

2. More than half, 38 of 70, freshman Democrats came from the ranks of the 51 Democratic marginal winners—five others are former members. Thirteen of the 16 Republican freshmen are among the 63 marginal Republican winners.

3. Freshmen also must reckon with the percentages when they seek re-election. About a quarter of the 1972 marginal district winners lost re-election this year; about half were freshmen. Another quarter barely got in again.

"Many factors contributed to the increasing number of freshmen found among marginal winners," says Roll Call.

"But the biggest cause so far is that many of the 70 freshman Democrats won narrow victories in conservative districts by unseating incumbent Republicans—thanks to low GOP voter turnout due to Watergate."

Increased world steel demand is forecast for 1975

By JOHN P. ROCHE
President,
American Iron and Steel Institute

In 1974, the domestic steel industry ran all-out to meet demand for its products. Industry earnings improved from the depressed levels of recent years, and the vitality and resourcefulness of the industry were demonstrated by announcement of plans to expand domestic steelmaking capability.

The tonnages produced by the industry and shipped to its customers were second only to the records set in 1973.

Industry furnaces poured an estimated 146 million tons of raw steel in 1974 compared with 150.8 million tons in 1973.

Shipments in 1974 were approximately 110 million tons compared with 111.4 million tons in 1973.

Production was restricted by shortages of raw materials, particularly coal, whose supply was interrupted by the miners' strike.

It was limited also by shutdowns of equipment for maintenance that had been postponed as long as possible by steelmakers striving to keep up with the demand of the past two years.

Demand was sustained largely by the capital goods market. Shipments to that market offset the decline in shipments to the automotive and appliance industries.

Expansion projects were announced that will increase the industry's annual steelmaking capability by 18.5 million tons, the equivalent of almost 12 per cent of 1973's record raw steel output.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Coming after years of depressed profits in the steel industry — and at a time when there has been a decline in overall economic activity — these decisions to expand demonstrate management courage and faith in the basic strength of our country.

Virtually all the announced expansion programs are of the "rounding-out" variety designed to balance existing facilities for maximum output.

It is believed they represent nearly the full potential for rounding out.

To meet 1980 domestic steel production requirements, another seven million to 12 million tons of entirely new "greenfield" site expansion will be needed. A greenfield expansion could cost three or four times as much per annual ton as a rounding-out expansion.

Additional costs the industry faces include replacement and modernization of existing facilities and heavy outlays for environmental equipment.

These capital requirements will total $5 billion per year for the rest of the decade, not counting inflation's effect.

Considering that the industry's capital spending averaged $1.8 billion annually from 1965 through 1973, the immensity of the task ahead is clear.

To meet its capital requirements, the industry must have better earnings. The improvement in profits during 1974 is encouraging.

But it is likely that when all the results for the year are in, steel's return on net worth still will be below the average for all manufacturing industries.

Steel is no less preoccupied with the energy crisis than other industries in the nation.

In cooperation with the Federal Energy Administration, the industry has stated that the energy conservation potential in steel can be significant.

An apparent 3.2 per cent energy savings per net ton of steel shipped from 1972 to 1973 is believed to be realistic and is the result of conservation efforts in 1973 and the obvious advantage of higher energy efficiency due to higher operating temperatures.

Furthermore, with 1972 energy consumption as the base, the potential energy savings per net ton of shipments for the iron and steel industry would approximate eight per cent by 1980 and 13 per cent by 1990.

This equates, respectively, to 46 million and 75 million barrels of oil equivalent, based on 1973 shipment levels.

These potential savings apply to the steel industry as a whole and, because of variations in equipment and operations from plant to plant, should not be applied to all individual plants or companies.

Such a program of energy reduction will depend upon newer, more efficient facilities gradually replacing older ones, upon optimum utilization of critical fuels through planning and management, and upon a high level of steel shipments that allow optimum utilization of facilities.

It must be noted that steel industry energy conservation estimates do not take into account the additional energy requirements of future pollution abatement programs.

The industry believes that if the 1975 air quality standards and the 1977 and 1983 water quality standards are fully retained, an additional 5.6 per cent of total energy will be required, which could wipe out much of the savings in energy projected in the conservation program.

A more realistic and balanced approach to environmental quality standards would be in the nature of a compromise.

Consider a problem facing a Midwestern steel company. Its electric furnace steelmaking facility was equipped with the best dust control system available when it was installed four years ago.

The system cost $2.5 million and collects 95 per cent of the dust generated. Regulations have been proposed which would require the achievement of 98 per cent collection.

The investment in equipment to realize that 4 per cent would be $5 million, and the result would be cosmetic rather than a necessary change in the environment for health purposes.

Such excessive regulations are foreclosing other socially desirable investments.

According to the U. S. Commerce Department's Bureau of Economic Analysis, more than one-fifth of the steel industry's total 1974 capital investment was earmarked for pollution control equipment.

One major steel company estimates that its entire depreciation allowance for the year will just about cover its 1974 environmental expenditures.

The voluntary restraint arrangements applicable to imports of steel mill products from Japan and Europe terminate at the end of this year.

We trust, however, that efforts will be made to develop sensible international rules and procedures by which steel unemployment and profit declines from market disruption can be avoided.

Hopefully, the Trade Act of 1974, enacted by the Congress in its closing days, will launch those efforts.

Steel industry leaders are confident that high demand for steel will continue through at least the first six months of 1975.

A survey by the International Iron and Steel Institute, headquartered in Brussels, Belgium, indicates an apparent steel consumption worldwide in 1975 of 740 million tons. That would be a 2.2 per cent increase over this year, according to IISI.

Shortage of farm machinery

The high cost and apparent shortage of modern farm machinery at present increases the importance of getting equipment out of the fence and under cover. The winter as soon as its field use is done for the season, according to J. J. Paterson, farm mechanization specialist.

Some farmers in Southern Illinois still have combines and corn harvesters standing outside waiting for field conditions suitable to finish harvesting their remaining corn and soybeans because of the late season.

Added strain is being put on the machines and tractors in trying to get through wet fields by mounting extra wheels or other special equipment to salvage the remainder of the crops as soon as possible.

Moving parts of the equipment after harvest is finished to maintain it in good condition for next year's crops, Paterson says.

It is highly desirable to store such machinery under some kind of shed to protect it from the weather and also to take the time to clean and protect the equipment from corrosion during the winter, he adds.

Whatever the equipment, whether plows, disks, planters, fertilizer and herbicide applicators, haying machinery, harvesters or tractors, it is important to clean and lubricate the machinery when putting it in winter storage, Paterson emphasizes.

Parts of the equipment, and parts that work in the soil, can be protected from rusting with a coating of oil or grease after cleaning.

The motorized power units on combines, field choppers or hay balers and tractors not in frequent use for winter farm chores, need some winterizing care to prevent damage to valves, upper cylinders and bearings while in winter storage.

Old oil should be drained from the crankcase and replaced with fresh oil of the proper weight and grade for the machine.

Run the engine a few minutes afterward to circulate the new oil to all parts of the motor, he suggests. Replace the oil filter.

Upper cylinders can be protected by removing the sparkplugs and putting a drop of oil into the cylinder before replacing the plugs.

Plugging the air intake and the exhaust pipe will keep moisture from getting into the engine while it is stored.

Unless the machine has an air-cooled engine, winterize the cooling system by putting in plenty of good quality antifreeze, or else drain out all the water from the engine to prevent freezing damage.

Batteries also need protection from severe cold weather; either by removing and storing in a warm place, or by keeping up the charge during the time the stored machinery is standing idle.

The department answered an emergency call at 11 a.m. to the Venice-Madison American Legion post where Frederick Griffin, 53, of 118 Kerr St. reportedly collapsed and struck his head. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by firemen.

Turnovers, free throws decisive in victory by Madison

The Madison Trojans, now 8-2, overcame a five-point half-time deficit, 35-30, Friday to defeat Cahokia 74-66 in a cage contest at Madison High School.

Rudolph Bradley and Darryl Franklin combined their shooting talents to score between them 15 of Madison's 18 third-quarter points to give the Trojans a 48-43 edge going into the final period.

Madison then outscored the visitors 26-23 in the fourth quarter for the win.

Cahokia had jumped to a 21-18 first period lead.

Charity tosses of 21 Cahokia fouls provided the victory margin for the Trojans. Madison hit on 26 of 34 from the foul line and the Comanches made good 12 of 16. Madison committed 15 fouls.

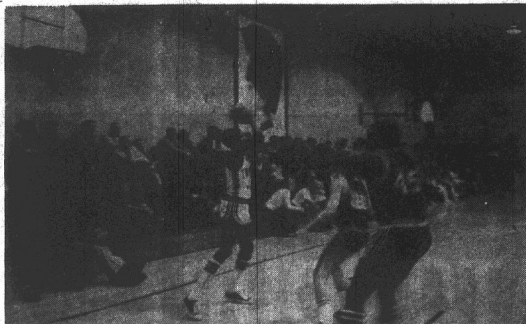

Madison recovered 34 rebounds to Cahokia's 24 and the Trojan defense forced 21 enemy turnovers while Madison gave up the ball only 11 times. Led by the 27 points of Bradley on nine free throws and nine field goals, and 20 points by Ron Jones, Madison shot 46 per cent from the field, making good 24 of 51 attempts. Cahokia hit a torrid 27 of 51 attempts.

Three Comanches provided double-digit scoring. Rich King 22, Gerald Washington 16 and Melvin Carter 10.

Other than Bradley and Jones, Madison's winning effort was aided by Darryl Franklin with 13 points, Mike Williams eight, Leroy Booker three and two each of Curtis Bradley and Emmett Timmons.

Granite City High School North's basketball Stealers now have a 7-5 record after losing a 59-56 overtime decision to Belleville East Saturday at the GCHS South gym.

The East Lancers led the Stealers 18-10, 30-23 and 45-41 at the quarters and threatened to win the contest in the final period at 55-49 until three straight field goals by North forced an overtime period with the score tied at 55-56.

Rick Spurlock then tied the contest with a basket with two seconds remaining in regulation time.

East made good two field goals in overtime for the win, as North was able to muster only one free throw, by Gauen.

HE SCORES! Garry Mainer (17) of Granite City raises his arms in traditional ice hockey fashion after seeing his drive toward the enemy goal enter the net. The picture was taken Friday night at the Wilson Park ice rink during league action between boys of high school age. No. 4 of Collinsville is Tom Pondoff; beyond him is the goalie, who fell to the ice while trying to make the save.

Hockey team divides two weekend contests

The Granite City Club split a pair of ice hockey contests at the Wilson Park ice rink during the weekend in MacClair High School Association competition. The local team defeated Collinsville 7-1 Friday and then bowed 5-0 to the Alton Flames Saturday.

Ken Sobol, last year's league leading scorer, tallied two goals for the Granite City squad, as did Doug Purkey.

Adding to Friday's wins were one goal each posted by Mike Whaley, Art Hattersley and Rory Magyar.

Alton's victory over the local club gave the defending league champion squad its sixth straight shutout over participating teams.

Warrior wrestlers chalk up another 3 dual meet wins

Granite City High School South's wrestling Warriors are still undefeated (11-0) in dual meet competition for the 1974-75 season after posting three wins Saturday at Springfield.

South matmen defeated the host school 50-9, Quincy 46-9 and East St. Louis 50-4.

South lost only two bouts in defeating Springfield. Jay Fedora, at 119 pounds, was decisively 5-1 and Heavyweight Mark Naglich was pinned in 2:27.

Against Quincy, South won five bouts by forfeit and lost three: 138 — Glen Moore lost 6-4; 145 — Kenny Brokaw lost 8-2;

South captured the remaining bouts: 98 — Lindy McDaniel 8-2; 105 — Halbrook 3:51; 112 — Garland by forfeit; 125 — Page 7-1; 132 — Darrel Hasty 5:15; 138 — Don Hasty 10:5; 145 — Gaines 11-0; 155 — Avedisian 8-0; 167 — Wilson 14-3; 185 — Patterson 1:53; and heavyweight — Naglich 5-49.

GCHS South will next host undefeated Belleville East at 7 p.m. Friday.

Junior high wrestling tournament at Prather

Prather Junior High School's Al Lewis, athletic director, has announced that tickets are available at the school office for its Jan. 10-11 fourth annual wrestling tournament.

Single session tickets are $1 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Plan a 'Bill Schmitt night'

Granite City High School South's wrestling Coach William "Red" Schmitt is to be honored for his 25 years as a high school mat coach with a banquet now being planned for March.

A committee of wrestling fans and Schmitt's friends have started the planning for "Bill Schmitt night," during which Schmitt will be honored and a presentation will be made.

"Coach Schmitt has been one of the most successful coaches in Illinois and the United States and is nationally recognized for his outstanding work with youth.

"His teams have dominated area wrestling consistently," a group spokesman said.

Persons interested in helping plan for the event—including former wrestlers who trained under Schmitt, and fans who wish to attend—are being

STUDY IN BLACK AND WHITE. The brilliantly-lit ice surface and the darkness around it form a contrasting scene in this view of Granite City-vs.-Collinsville hockey competition Friday night at the rooftop, open-air rink at Wilson Park. Four players come in close contact along the boards in trying to free—or "freeze"—the puck. Granite Cityans are Jeff Hillman (2) and Mark Hadley (9).

Swimmers vie in holiday tourney

Tri-City Area YMCA swimmers Denise Darnell took fifth place in 25-yard butterfly competition and sixth in 50-yard backstroke for girls eight years old and under during an annual holiday invitational meet at Lewis and Clark Junior College during the weekend.

Competing also for the local YMCA were Larry Schnellman, 11-12 years-olds; Anna Marie Schnellman, 10-year-olds; Julia and Eric Schnellman and Elizabeth Wilson, 8-and-under; and Jeffrey Welborne and Mary Christ Barnett in 10-and-under competition.

Scoring for the Sanford-Brown Indians were Granite Cityan Greg Jones with 15 points, Ron Glasper of Madison, with 14, and Glasper's brother, Roger, 12 points.

Cougars capture 2nd straight tourney title

By winning the fourth annual Green Bay, Wis., Classic Saturday night with a thrill-packed 52-46 victory over the host University of Wisconsin-Green Bay Phoenix, the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars posted their second straight tournament title in eight days.

The previous Saturday, at the Chicago suburb of Downers Grove, Coach Jim Dudley's Dandies won the annual George Williams College tourney crown.

The latest victory ran the Cougars' record to 8-1 for the season and pushed their winning streak to seven.

Slender Keith McFarland paced the Cougars with 18 points, which should keep him in the top five in the national scoring race with a 24-point per game average.

Winning on the road is tough in basketball, but Dudley's charges are getting to like playing on the road. All nine games to date, in fact, have been away from home.

St. Ambrose College of Davenport, Ia., captured the third-place trophy with an 108-

87 victory over Grand Valley State U. of Grand Rapids, Mich. St. Ambrose's Al Williams set a new tourney record for a single game when he scored 56 points.

In beating out the host Green Bay team, the Cougars did something no other team had been able to accomplish since 1971. SIUE broke Green Bay's Arena record of 32 straight wins.

As in the George Williams tourney, McFarland again was named the tournament's most valuable player. All 12 members of the traveling squad, plus their equipment manager, Mike Hickey, were awarded watches, as were Coach Dudley and his assistant, Randy Everly.

Next Saturday, the Cougars will still be on the road and travel to Kenosha to take on U. of Wisconsin-Parkside.

Stolen car is burned

An auto belonging to Charles Jaycox of Granite City was found stripped and burning at 2:10 a.m. Monday at Chicago Avenue and Cedar Street by a guard of the Granite City Army Installation.

Firemen at the scene said they suspect arson was involved. They said the auto, when found, was missing its motor and transmission and that old wheels were setting on top of the vehicle. Its owner apparently was not aware the car had been stolen until notified by authorities.

shopping month, to $75,150 received for the month of October, a normally good shopping period.

In November, the city's sales tax collection amounted to $80,810.

For December, Granite City's sales tax allotment was $100,823, indicating a combination of increased business volume and the Christmas shopping period.

Income from sales tax fell back in January and February 1974 because of the usual seasonal drop in buying following the Christmas period, but jumped to $84,377 for the month of March, and to $88,207 in May, the month that the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center began operations.

For the month of June 1974, the city's allocation of sales tax amounted to $92,049, up $17,350 over sales tax revenue of $74,699 in June of the previous year.

The city's allocation for August last year was $91,787, an increase of $19,517 over the July 1973 sales tax revenue. For August, 1974, the city received $85,121 in sales tax, up $15,359 over that of August 1973.

The September allotment, the last received by the city, amounted to $85,587, an increase of $15,658 over that of the same month a year previous.

Paul Passig dies at 61

Paul Passig, of 2128 rear Washington Ave., was found dead in his bed by relatives at 12:05 p.m. Sunday.

A brother, Willard Passig and Mr. and Mrs. John Passig, 1331 Maple St., a nephew and niece of the late Mr. Passig, said they went to his home to visit but were unable to get an answer at the door.

John Passig entered through a window and found his uncle with signs of life. Police were called and Mr. Passig was pronounced dead at the scene at 12:10 p.m. Sunday by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Werner.

Officers said Mr. Passig apparently died of natural causes.

decision were Rep. Harold Byers of Highland, Rep. William O'Daniel of Fairfield and Rep. Kenneth Boyle of Carlinville.

House Democrats are to meet at St. Paul Cemetery tomorrow night to nominate their candidate, and the House is to elect a speaker Wednesday.

There has been two types of pressure on Republicans, whose incumbent speaker was defeated for re-election to the House.

Now outnumbered 101 to 76 for the 1975-76 session, Republicans are being urged by some to help Chaste and by others to remain loyal to their party and vote for a Republican.

Rep. James Washburn already has been given the nod as minority leader and has been named Calvo's chief of staff.

Once a protégé of former Speaker Paul Powell, Chaste is being described by backers as able to work well with both parties. Democrat Powell once gained the speaker post with GOP help even though the Republicans had a slight numerical edge over the Democrats that year.

Calvo said Saturday he has pulled fellow representatives to determine whether there would be substantial backing for him but that he has not decided whether to become a speaker candidate.

Rep. John F. Sharp of East Alton favors Tipsworth.

Rep. Joe E. Lucero of Edwardsville said he will nominate Calvo if Calvo decides to enter the race.

Most House Democrats say they hope the winner will be someone who can unify the party's legislative program, work effectively with the governor and other Democratic leaders, and give adequate attention to all geographic areas of the state.

Humanities grants to continue

The National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) has announced a continuation of its program of education projects grants, according to the Office of Research and Projects of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Graduate School.

"The grants promote the development and testing of imaginative approaches to humanities education by supporting well-defined demonstration projects," John Rodman, coordinator of the Office of Research and Projects, said.

"They are concerned with the improvement of courses or programs, the training of faculty in new approaches to their discipline, and the educational use of libraries and other cultural institutions."

Rodman said special interests of the program include: 1) Programs involving combinations of disciplines; 2) Comparative studies in history, literature, classics and philosophy; 3) The use of various media in educational programs; 4) Curriculum development projects that offer broad applicability.

Report on food additive poils

"The Delaney Clause, or Eating May Be Hazardous to Your Health," will be broadcast Tuesday at 6:05 p.m. over WISN-TV (Ch. 12).

The National Public Radio (NPR) program will feature a panel of experts discussing the Delaney Clause, the law that prohibits the use of cancer-causing chemicals as additives to food or medicine.

The program is hosted by Irma Aandahl of WAMU-FM, Washington, D.C. The panel members are Dr. Jacqueline Barrett, biochemist for the Federal Department of Agriculture and co-author of the book, "Eating May Be Hazardous to Your Health," Robert Desmond, president of Homemakers, Inc., and Gilbert Goldhammer, a consultant to a committee of the U.S. House of Representatives.

According to the public information office of NPR, the panel members "reveal that the Delaney Clause does not protect U.S. consumers as well as they suppose, and conclude that eating may be detrimental to one's health."

During the program, the panel discusses the clause and loopholes that undermine its enforcement, and takes a look at the "chemical explosion" of 1958, when additives to both food and medicine were greatly increased.

The current rate of chemical consumption is estimated at five pounds per person per year, and the panel says that many of these chemicals are cancer-conducive.

Volunteers aid probationers

The Madison County Probation and Court Services Department now has a total of 40 volunteers working as "Big Brothers" and "Big Sisters" to probationers, and hopes to increase that number to 60 by the middle of this year, it was announced by the probation officer last week.

Volunteers are assigned on a one-to-one basis to serve as tutors, provide transportation, help find employment, assist with recreational activities and arts and crafts leaders. Their involvement may range from taking a probationer to a basketball game to tutoring him in his school work, probation officials said.

The volunteers attend orientation and in-service training sessions, meet with assigned probationers for a minimum of one hour each week for as long as the probationer is on probation, and meet with the probation officer supervising the case at least once a month.

Waste treatment hearing

Public comment on a proposed three-county waste treatment planning area designation will be accepted during a hearing at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Collinsville Holiday Inn on Route 157, south of Interstate 70.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency is proposing that Madison, Monroe and St. Clair counties be designated as one regional treatment planning area with the Southwest Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission (SIMARPC) acting as the agency responsible for the region's planning.

Dr. Richard H. Briceland, director of the IEPA, commented a regional approach is needed for this highly industrialized area to qualify for the federal "national goal" for water quality in 1983.

The federal law seeks water quality that "provides for the protection and propagation of fish, shellfish and wildlife and provides for recreation in and on the water."

The designation is approved by the U.S. EPA, SIMARPC will become eligible to apply for federal grants for area-wide waste treatment planning.

Additional information on the plan is available from SIMARPC, 103 W. Main St., Collinsville, or the Illinois EPA, 117 West Main St., Collinsville.

A native of St. Louis, he moved to this area 33 years ago.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ann La Macchia; two sons, Joseph La Macchia Jr. of St. Louis and Dennis La Macchia of Granite City; one daughter, Mrs. John (Carol) Myszak of St. Louis; three sisters, Mrs. Alvera Moll, Misses Molly and Florence La Macchia, all of St. Louis, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

Hearing on GSI office permit set

The Granite City Planning Commission Thursday will study a plan by General Steel Industries to convert the former Maryland Market building at 2205 Pontoon Road into engineering offices for GSI.

If a special permit for the move is granted, GSI engineers will vacate quarters in the former Castings Division plant here which has been purchased by Granite City Steel.

A GSI spokesman said the department probably would be moved to St. Louis if a suitable location in the Quad-City area is not found.

In requesting the special use permit for the location, which presently is zoned C-1 for office and commercial use, the GSI petition notes, "The above property is intended..."

Equipment will be used for stress fatigue testing and other engineering.

The GSI petition also stated that issuance of the permit for the engineering office "would not be detrimental to the character of the neighborhood, traffic conditions, public utility facilities or any other matter pertaining to the public health, safety and general welfare."

The Plan Commission studies rezoning requests and makes recommendations to the Granite City Council. The council will vote on the recommendations at the regular city council meeting at 8 p.m. Monday, Jan. 20, in Granite City Hall.

The Plan Commission meeting Thursday will begin at 1:15 p.m. in the city offices at 2301 Adams St.

THE SCHERMER BULLETIN
Now that the New Year has started and all the holiday rushes have been properly taken care of, we can put our minds to doing what we do best: find good buys for our customers.
We think that if you read this ad carefully you will find a great selection of unusual buys. In times like these, items like cooked fish patties at 10 for $1.00 will just do wonders for your budget. This is probably the last week we can take the "heat" on 69¢ sliced bacon, but it was good while it lasted.
Butter has dropped again, and so we are featuring it because whether you realize it or not, it really makes no difference in your budget today whether you use margarine or butter.
Chuck Roast at 59¢ is a real "old time" meat price and Pork Liver at 29¢ is just real real low.
So save the time, if you are not a "Schermers Regular" to make the switch. Many stores make all kinds of claims, but we think that we really DELIVER THE GOODS.

200 at Silver Belles party

The Silver Belles Senior Citizen Club held its annual Christmas and birthday party at the Venice Recreation Center last week. A total of 200 members and guests attended.

Club supervisor Mrs. Dorothy Buford introduced several special guests, including Venice Mayor William "Mike" Ebersold, members of his staff and representatives from the Kirkpatrick Homes Golden Age, Anchorage, Lamplighters and Madison Civic clubs and the Quad-City Senior Citizen's Council.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Pearl Jackson and the Rev. Ollie Wright offered prayer. Mrs. Helen King was in charge of the program and Mrs. Jane Robinson presented a special gift to Mrs. Marian Guest, president of the host club.

A gift exchange was held and the birthdays of Mesdames Minnie Giles, Florence Lee, Jessie Page, Theresa Bollinger, Eva Stinson and Jewell and Claude Jones were observed.

Slow cooking poses hazards

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County Extension
Adviser-Home Economics
Some manufacturers extend the low-heat range of their slow-cooker to add to its versatility.

If you purchase or already own a slow-cooker that warms, pay extra attention to which low setting you use.

Some slow-cookers permit you to set the temperature below 145 degrees F. Bacteria grow in temperatures ranging from 40 to 140 degrees F. and may survive in the temperatures above 140 degrees F.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture rule of thumb for high-protein, low-acid foods is: Food should not remain in the danger zone—60 to 120 degrees F.—for longer than two hours.

—Food should not remain in the 40 to 140 degrees F. range for longer than four hours. The two and four-hour periods include preparation, room temperature storage, and cooking time.

For safety, seafood and milk should be added the last few minutes.

Spanish rice with its acidic tomato base ranks as less critical than a protein food from a safety standpoint.

In a laboratory test, the temperature at the edge of one slow-cooker reached 120 high degrees F. in twenty minutes, but one hour and fifteen minutes were required to reach 140 degrees F. in the center.

In a slow-cooker, a three- and one-half-pound chuck roast reached 120 degrees F. in its outside one inch in two hours; but it took four and one-half hours to reach 140 degrees F. in the center.

Internal Revenue ready for your return whenever you complete it

Plans for the 1975 federal income tax filing period have been announced by Ira S. Loeb, "Internal Revenue" for Central and Southern Illinois.

"Our prime objective this year," Loeb said, "is to give the taxpayers quality service. We believe we owe it to taxpayers to be responsive to their needs; to give them prompt and courteous answers to their tax questions and to help them prepare their tax returns."

During the filing period of Jan. 1 through April 15, day walk-in service will be available in IRS offices located in Alton, Bloomington, Carbondale, Champaign, Danville, Decatur, East St. Louis, Galesburg, Mt. Vernon, Peoria, Quincy and Springfield.

These offices will be open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. In addition, assistance will be offered in Belleville, Cairo, Centralia, Harrisburg, Herrin, Jacksonville, Litchfield, Macomb, Mattoon and Olney at various dates throughout the filing period.

"Taxpayers will be advised later of the locations, dates and hours of free personal assistance at these cities."

According to Loeb, more and more taxpayers are remembering that IRS will answer their tax questions over the telephone; that telephone service is theirs for the dialing without any long-distance charges.

He added, "During last year's filing period, over 200,000 taxpayers called the IRS toll-free telephone number (800-252-2921) for personal assistance. In anticipation of an increased use of this free telephone service, we have improved it by adding additional lines and by adding more and better trained people to handle the calls."

Loeb indicated that all a person has to do to contact an IRS representative is to dial the toll-free number, 800-252-2921. This service is available each workday Monday through Friday between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:45 p.m.

This animated story tells how Tom Thumb became a Knight of the Round Table.

Dial-A-Story, a recent innovation in children's librarianship, will soon be installed at GCPL.

NEW ITEMS: Professional wrestling is the topic of Joe Jare's new book, "Whatever Happened to Gorgeous George?"

The book has eight entertaining chapters, with such headings as "Indian Chiefs, Lords and Masked Marvels."

Jare includes much information about wrestling, ring aliases (Fritz von Erich's real name is Jack Adkisson), heavyweight titleholders, big gates and crowds (over 26,000 attended the Erich v. Funk Jr. bout at Texas Stadium in 1972).

A delightful book for any wrestling fan.

published recently is Lennart Nilsson's "Behold Man: A Photographic Journey of Discovery Inside the Body."

In preparing this study, Nilsson utilized newly designed optical devices, powerful electron microscopes, and specially calibrated instruments capable of magnifying minute tissues to thousands of times larger than life size.

Everything from Molasses popcorn squares to candied prunes for the home candy-maker are in June Roth's "Old-Fashioned Candymaking." Roth explains candymaking techniques and how to use a candy thermometer and other equipment.

Three new biographies deserve special attention. George T. Simon's "Glenn Miller and His Orchestra" recreates the life and times of one of America's best band-leaders.

Stanley Jackson narrates the life of one of the world's greatest composers in "Monsieur Butterflies: The Story of Giacomo Puccini."

"Marie Curie" by Robert Reid is the first biography of this scientist since 1938, when Eve Curie, her daughter, wrote the best-selling "Madame Curie."

50s dance at North Friday

"Rock Around the Clock," "Sherry" and "I Get Around" are some of the musical hits of the 1950's that will be featured at the Granite City North 20th Annual 50s and 60s dance at 8 p.m. Friday in the cafeteria.

The day will begin with a student body assembly at which only students dressed in attire of the 50s will be admitted. "Prism" will provide the entertainment.

Students attending the dance must have "ID" cards. Admission is $1 and standard school dance policies will be in force.

Drug program for Madison parents

Why are drugs being abused these days? What physical signs should a parent look for to help determine if a child is taking drugs? Why do children from "good homes" become active in drug usage?

Some of the answers to these and other questions will be discussed with the parents of children in the city of Madison on Wednesday, Jan. 15, beginning at 7:30 p.m., at the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh and Lee streets, Madison.

A drug awareness program specifically designed for parents only is being presented as a public service by Explorer Post 10-4 in conjunction with the Madison Police department to help parents in Madison become more aware of the drug problem and what the parent can do to curb it.

Among the experts who will be on hand to answer questions and make brief individual presentations are: Dr. George T.

Wilkins, a local medical doctor; Dr. David Paul, Ph.D., a registered pharmacist; Sgt. Gary Burns, head of the Madison County Sheriff's department narcotic squad; Jerry Brown, assistant principal of Granite City High School North, a noted expert on youth and drugs; Father Walter Lecko, an expert in family counseling, particularly in drug abuse areas; Donald Bridick, juvenile officer for Madison, and W. F. "Mick" Strange, former youth counselor for eight years with the Illinois Youth Commission.

Parents are being asked not to bring children to the meeting due to the "hard core" nature of the presentations.

"We have announced this meeting far enough in advance to allow parents to make necessary arrangements for baby sitters. We hope both parents can attend, but we realize one may have to stay at home with the children," Chief of Police Frank Dutko said.

R. H. Parsons named to state development board

Gov. Dan Walker on Thursday announced the appointment of Richard H. Parsons, a Peoria attorney, to the Capital Development Board (CDB).

The CDB is the chief developer for the state and is responsible for more than $500 million in planning and construction each fiscal year.

Parsons, 38, has a private law practice. He also is president and owner of Bank of America Company, Ltd., agent for St. Paul Title Insurance Corporation and Commonwealth Land Title Insurance Company. He is chairman of the board of directors of the Heights Bank, Peoria Heights.

Parsons was graduated from Bradley University in Peoria and received his J.D. degree from Washington & Lee University School of Law, Lexington, Va. He is a member of the Illinois State Bar Association, American Bar Association, American Judicature Society and the Peoria County Bar Association.

Parsons is a Democrat. He and his wife, Catherine Ann, have three children.

The three-year appointment is subject to Senate confirmation. The seven members of the CDB receive no salary.

Employees honored at First Bank

Bella Kreher, an employee of the First Granite City National Bank, has been presented the 1974 Employee of the Year award by Melvin Wilmsmeyer, bank president. The presentation was made during the employee recognition ceremonies held at the bank during the holidays.

The engraved silver tray presented to the recipient symbolizes the highest achievement among employees in the acquisition of new accounts during the past year.

Wilmsmeyer also presented to Angela Converse a jeweled, gold brooch in recognition of her 20 years continuous service at the bank.

An old-time melodrama will be the next production of the East Bank Players, the Quad-City area's community-theatre group, it was announced today.

Open auditions for the new show, "No, No, Million Times No," will take place at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 15, at the former Hungarian Home, 1801 Spruce St. The building now is owned by the Mexican Honorary Commission.

Mrs. Diane (Nocheff) Ripper and Mrs. Ann (Johnson) Rippert, East Bank officers, said the musical is in the "classic tradition of melodrama and features the usual noble hearted hero, evil villain and fair maiden."

The cast will include four male roles, eight female parts and a large chorus. The script, while not lengthy, has 14 musical numbers, the officers said.

Additional entertainment is planned during the show's intermission periods, with variety acts to be presented in a cabaret-style setting, Mrs. Ripper said.

To get a first-hand view of a current melodrama, several members of the East Bank Players enjoyed a social evening Saturday aboard the Goldenrod Showboat on the St. Louis riverfront. The theatre restaurant is noted for its "audience participation" productions.

Difficulties in casting "L'I Abner," a show previously proposed by the local theatre group, resulted in its cancellation, Mrs. Ripper said.

Any area resident interested in joining the "No, No" cast is cordially invited to attend the Jan. 15 audition, she advised.

Membership in the East Bank Players is not required in order to take part in the show, the officers stressed.

Regional cooperation is called key to progress

Lawrence K. Roos, chairman of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council and newly retired St. Louis County supervisor, urged regional cooperation in a talk Sunday. He called on citizens of greater St. Louis, "whether citizens of Illinois or citizens of Missouri, black or white, management or labor, urban or suburban, to join together as one regional team in a single united effort to frustrate the efforts of decline and decay and to restore the forward momentum which in the past characterized St. Louis."

Roos was the commencement speaker at the University of Missouri-St. Louis, where he was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree during afternoon ceremonies at the campus multi-purpose building. "Economically, culturally, and in terms of quality of life, St. Louis offers a firm base on which to build," Roos said.

"The question is whether we are prepared to take advantage of the advantages that are ours."

He said the main obstacle standing in the way of regional progress in St. Louis is "selfism," which he said Webster defines as "envy and exclusive devotion to self."

Roos said the St. Louis region is "afflicted with four kinds of selfism or selfishness:

- 1) Jurisdictional selfism... "The tendency to limit one's horizons to the boundaries of his own city, county or state while doing one's best to ignore what is happening on the other side of those boundaries."
- 2) Economic selfism... "When one supports only those ideas and projects which seem to offer the biggest and the shortest-term payoff for his own business, his own group of workers, or his own pocket-book."
- 3) Head-in-the-sand selfism... "When one ignores problems and tries to run away from them."
- 4) The drop-out selfist... "The person who waits for other people to take action and tends to ridicule those who involve themselves in solving problems. The drop-out selfist votes 'no' on all public service bond issues and then complains loudly about how bad services are."

Roos said that "when narrow, parochial selfishness stands in the way of regional cooperation in meeting those problems which obviously can only be solved by regional effort, then selfism becomes a serious threat to the survival of greater St. Louis as a decent place to live and work."

"It creates a climate of community stagnation in which progress and prosperity are impossible."

"Business, economic activity, public works and, finally, even the spirit of the community begins to wither and die. Jobs become scarce, services become inadequate, and the selfists find themselves suffering as much as anyone."

In calling for regional cooperation, Roos said, "Whether we live in Illinois or Missouri, we breathe the same air, drink the same water, ride the same buses, travel the same highways and work in each other's communities."

As a metropolitan community, our future is interdependent, and our prosperity interrelated."

Melson gets 2-6 years in burglary

Robert Dean Melson, 20, of the 2700 block of Saratoga St., was sentenced Friday in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville to serve two to six years in prison for burglary.

Melson pleaded guilty to Aug. 22 burglary of Key Rexall Drug Store, 6 Gaslight Plaza, Pontoon Beach. He was found by Pontoon Beach officers inside the store with satchels of drugs on the floor nearby.

The sentence was recommended by the Madison County state's attorney and was pronounced by Chief Criminal Judge John Gitchoff.

Gitchoff also pronounced sentence of Salvatore Ochao Jr., 32, of the 3100 block of Wayne Ave., who pleaded guilty to criminal damage to property. He set fire to the B. J. Beauty Shop, Johnson Road and Terrace Lane, June 2, causing extensive damage to the beauty shop and the adjoining Suburban Barber Shop. Ochao was severely burned when the fire started, but since has recovered from his burns.

Ochao was sentenced to serve two years probation on the recommendation of the state's attorney's office. Gitchoff also fined him $500.

Sentencing was postponed for Cornelius "Tootie" Bell of Greiner Homes, Madison, who has pleaded guilty to attempted burglary, and for Janice Turner, 32, of Rural Route Two, Granite City, who was found guilty by a jury of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance.

Pair strongarm man in Madison

Two men, about 18 or 19 years old, behind James Stewart, 60, of 1336 Edwardsville Road, Madison, threatened him and said, "Give us your... money."

He reported to police at 9:12 p.m. Saturday. Stewart was walking west in the 1300 block of Tenth Street, Madison, when the incident occurred. After one of the robbers said, "I've got a knife for you," Stewart reached in his pocket and threw his wallet into the middle of the street and yelled for help, he informed officers.

His assailants, who ran into an alley at the rear of the 900 block of Iowa Street, were described as white, with long hair and about five feet, nine inches or five feet, 10 inches tall.

EARLY MORNING ARREST

A report of a possible burglary in progress took police to the Lybarger Material Co., 22nd and Monroe streets, at 4:40 a.m. Saturday, and they arrested a 14-year-old St. Louis youth. A child's toy hammer and two cases of spray paint were discovered nearby. The boy was turned over to the juvenile officer.

Lottery cheaters should think twice

SPRINGFIELD — Ralph Batck has a message for potential Illinois lottery cheaters: "Beware!"

Batck, director of the state lottery, said his office has a near foolproof safeguard system of protection against dishonest attempts to win money.

"There is always somebody trying to beat the system and win a buck," the lottery chief observed during an interview. "But in most cases, a blind man with the white walking stick could detect them."

Batck said some would-be cheaters have tried to change the digits of tickets with ink so they correspond with winning numbers. He said there also are those who cut their ticket in half, and then try to put a certain half together with half of another ticket that might include winning numbers or a new date.

The lottery director said other dishonest methods include cutting out a digit from one ticket and attaching it to another one.

"All of them have been crude attempts and have not survived a visual test," said Batck. "For all practical purposes, it's just a spinning of wheels and nothing has been accomplished by it, other than the possibility of legal prosecution."

George T. Rummel, deputy director of the Department of Revenue and legal counsel to the lottery, said altering lottery tickets is forgery carrying a possible 1-10 year prison term.

He said lotteries in other states also have experienced to varying degrees attempts to win money illegally.

"They (cheating attempts) are common," Batck observed. "People are the same everywhere."

"I know of no successful attempts to cheat in other states," he added.

The Illinois lottery chief outlined some of the safety precautions and devices used by his office to prevent dishonesty. He said the paper itself on which the tickets are printed serves as a built-in safeguard.

"It's a special paper that is produced exclusively for the Illinois State Lottery," Batck said, adding that there are a number of ways to determine the authenticity of a ticket because the paper has special characteristics.

He said the paper has certain markings, and that when a particular bleach is applied to the surface of a ticket, specific characteristics of the paper will be accentuated if it is authentic. He added that it is important to place the paper under a black light to discover certain texture qualities possessed by only that type of paper.

Batck said the tickets are processed by sensitive computer "so that when they pass through the validation, they will be recognized."

"We're confident that the safeguards we have make it so there's no chance cheaters are going to benefit," he concluded.

In a discussion that covered a number of topics, Batck said fewer tickets are being sold than was anticipated when plans for the lottery were in the making two years ago. He said lottery sales agents are selling about five million tickets a week, instead of the six million that had been projected during the planning stage.

The lower number of ticket sales means revenue intake is about $500,000 less than the planning stage estimate, Batck said.

He said the lottery, which began Aug. 8, should have generated about $50 million in gross revenue by Dec. 31. He said about 45 per cent, or approximately $22.5 million, will be the net intake of the state.

Batck said planning stage estimates of revenue intake were "not unrealistic" two years ago, but I think economic times today are unlike the sales estimates of the past.

He said the purchase of lottery tickets cannot be considered by some families today because of the financial crunch. "We're not suggesting in any way that people go out and buy lottery tickets instead of groceries," Batck said.

In addition to today's economic pinch, the Illinois lottery director said sales are off because of recent statements made by U.S. Atty. Gen. William Saxbe. Saxbe has asked Congress to pass new lottery legislation because he says some state lotteries operate in violation of current federal lottery laws.

A lottery bill presently is pending in the U.S. House Rules Committee, according to Batck.

He contended that Saxbe "created inferences" about the illegality of all 14 state lotteries now in existence the first time the attorney general publicly discussed the matter. Some first impressions created by Saxbe's early statements erased by the more modified remarks he has made recently, the lottery head said.

"I think most of the population doesn't want to think they are involved in illegal activity," Batck observed.

He noted that Saxbe recently said the Illinois lottery is in full conformance with existing laws.

On other matters, Batck said lottery ticket sales in the downtown area lag slightly behind sales in the Chicago-Cook County region of northern Illinois, for a number of reasons.

"Perhaps in certain remote areas of the southern part of the state there are certain religious considerations that prevent people from buying our tickets and we respect that," Batck said.

He added that sales in a city like Chicago may be higher because a resident there is apt to be near the shop or lottery agent a dozen times in his daily behavior, while a rural dweller often must "travel a considerable distance to buy a ticket."

Clarence Smith, 89, dies

Clarence A. Smith, 89, of 1803 Spring Ave., a retired officer of the Barbers Union, died at 10:05 a.m. Saturday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was a patient one day.

He was a past secretary and treasurer of Barber's Local 138 of East St. Louis and a member of Emmanuel United Church of Christ, East St. Louis.

Mr. Smith was born in Danville, Ill. His wife, Mrs. Olga Wallace Smith, died Jan. 17, 1958.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Patrick (Doris) Hall of Granite City; one son, Edward Wallace of Collinsville; two sisters, Mrs. Maude Huddell of Quincy, Ill., and Mrs. Maye Bridgman of Whittier, Calif.; six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday. Details are listed elsewhere in this issue.

Tools taken at 2 apartments

A burglar entered two vacant apartments at 2108 and 2110 Adams St. and stole several tools, Robert Shands reported at 3:50 p.m. Friday.

A rear door was damaged to gain entry into 2108 Adams, where a circular saw, valued at $35, was removed.

At the second apartment, a basement door was knocked from its hinges. Stolen there were a black iron cutter valued at $45, a saber saw worth $15 and an electric drill costing $25.

Passenger hurt in Broadway collision

Jimmy Smotherman, 18, of St. Louis, a passenger in an auto operated by George Smotherman, 19, of St. Louis, was injured in the 200 block of E. Broadway, Venice, at 1:48 a.m. Sunday, when the latter's car and a vehicle driven by Ronnie L. McCoy, 32, of 110 Abbott St., Venice, were involved in a rear-end collision.

The younger Smotherman sustained abrasions to the left knee and sprained muscles in the back. He had x-rays and treatment at St. Elizabeth Hospital and was released.

Purse snatchers caught by GC man

Helen B. Yankey of Chester, Ill., was walking in the 1400 block of Third Street, Madison, with her husband, Alvin, about 1 p.m. Friday, when two youths ran up to the couple, grabbed the woman's purse and ran away along Third Street.

A Granite City man who witnessed the incident chased the purse snatchers and detained the pair until police arrived at the scene. The youths, 16 and 14, were turned over to the Madison juvenile officer.

Man stabbed 17 times

Russell E. Mahoney, 29, of Rural Route One, Box 345, Granite City, was found bleeding profusely from multiple stab wounds outside Patti's Lounge (former Marco Polo Lounge) on Highway 162, near Horseshoe Lake, at 10 p.m. Friday.

Madison County sheriff's deputies said Mahoney was lying on the floor of a pickup truck in the lounge parking lot. The injured man was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he underwent surgery. He remains in serious condition and under intensive care.

Car strikes

someone had attempted to set fire to the Wise auto. Matches were found by the gasoline tank and a strong smell of kerosene was noted inside the vehicle.

Ingram was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where x-rays were taken. After medical treatment, he was released.

Wise later Saturday morning reported that his car had been stolen Friday night.

Ingram's car had just turned east onto Niedringhaus from Olive when the vehicle was struck by an auto which allegedly swerved into Ingram's lane. The other auto then left the scene.

A passenger in the Ingram auto, Ruth Rueblich, 55, of Wood River, went to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 1:55 a.m. Saturday for treatment. She had contusions to the left arm and left knee and chest pains. X-rays were taken and she was released.

Pontoon board

Madison. At least one other candidate is expected to file for the president's post.

Mrs. Kreher said Thursday she ran for the clerk's post in April 1973, feeling it would be a parttime job. She is employed fulltime in another position.

She cited an increasing workload as the village continues to grow, and said she does not feel she has the time to devote to the post.

Ribbing said Thursday he "definitely" will not consider running. He was appointed in August 1973 to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Trustee John Cole.

Ribbing commented, "I will serve the village in any way I can, if they need my services, but not on the board of trustees."

Dr. Rochester told the Press-Record Thursday that he is not, at this time, planning to run again, but said he wishes to keep himself uncommitted.

He expressed interest in a possible new village party but would not say if he would run on a new ticket.

Rochester discounted rumors in the village that he plans to oppose Moss. "I have no intention of running for that office," Rochester said.

Mahoney was stabbed 17 times in the stomach, back, chest, arms and face, according to deputies, who said Mahoney had been sitting at the bar in the lounge with six people earlier and then had left the premises.

A short time after Mahoney went outside, a man came into the bar and reported someone was lying on the ground bleeding. When deputies arrived, Mahoney was inside the pickup truck.

County detectives questioned several persons in the lounge and talked with the injured man at the hospital. An investigation is continuing.

Transfer of telephone property made official

Contracts were formally signed Friday to complete transfer of the Illinois properties of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. to Illinois Bell.

The sale included Belleville, East St. Louis, Edgemoor, Freeburg, Granite City, Kaskaskia, Lebanon, McClure, New Athens and O'Fallon.

Transfer of the exchanges, which include 97,000 telephone customers served by 780 employees, had been under discussion for some time. The long-term objective of the companies which culminated in the sale was to have each company's operating territory conform to state boundaries.

Approval for the sale came from the Illinois Commerce Commission Dec. 11 and the Federal Communications Commission Dec. 20.

By purchasing these Southwestern Bell exchanges, Illinois Bell became the single Bell company responsible for telephone service in the state. The territory will remain a separate district of Illinois Bell with the name "Southwest" District. It was formerly known as the "Illinois" District.

The sale was first explored in 1969, at which time the transfer was deferred.

The discussions were resumed in the spring of 1974, and studies completed over the next several months led to the sale and transfer of the properties.

On the effective date of the sale, Jan. 1, in order to assure continuity of service, all Southwestern Bell employees in the district were employed by Illinois Bell.

William L. King continues as district manager. No immediate personnel changes are planned.

After June, consideration will be given to any employees who desire to transfer to Southwestern Bell.

Telephone and Telegraph Co. sought a new rate structure that would increase charges on 70 per cent of interstate calls while reducing the rate for the remainder. Overall, the new long-distance rates would boost revenues by 7.2 per cent.

The proposed March 4 rates, filed with the Federal Communications Commission, would produce $717 million in additional yearly revenue.

The FCC has 60 days to consider the request; if public hearings are deemed necessary, any increases would be delayed for another 90 days.

Former GC resident drowns

Cyrus Leo Zitt, 64, a former Granite Cityan, apparently drowned when he fell down an embankment at his lakefront home on Dunlap Lake in Edwardsville, and was pronounced dead at the scene at 7:15 p.m. Saturday by Deputy Coroner Ed Rodney.

Mr. Zitt had just returned from a month-long vacation in California and had been met at the St. Louis airport by his cousin, Robert Zitt, 50, of Rosewood Heights, at 10:55 a.m., Saturday.

According to Robert Zitt, the two had stopped for a couple of drinks then drove to the elder Zitt's home, where he apparently slipped down an embankment leading to the lake while Robert Zitt was removing luggage from the trunk of the car.

Zitt and a neighbor, Hugh Barlow, found Cyrus Zitt about two feet of water, authorities said.

Mr. Zitt was born in Granite City and moved to Edwardsville 22 years ago. He retired in August from Granite City Steel where he had been employed 28 years.

He was a member of Local 16, of the United Steelworkers Union.

Survivors include an aunt, Mrs. Clara Korth of Edwardsville and six cousins, including Arline Shane of Granite City. Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Stores contacted on wine sales

Granite City liquor store owners were contacted during the weekend by a representative of the United Farmworkers union's Boycott Committee, St. Louis chapter, and were told of the possibility of picketing in front of stores which continue to display and sell Gallo wines. Julie Kersick, the union's staff representative for Granite City, requested that store owners remove such wines from their shelves because of alleged labor practices at the vineyards.

She contended that federal laws do not give farmworkers as much protection as members of other trade unions and said, "The boycott is the workers' only weapon to get a union election."

The staff representative said she is, at this time, only asking the liquor store owners to remove the wines from the shelves. "We will see how the stores respond before we decide if we will picket," she said.

She said informational picketing would be legal at stores not cooperating. She added that she feels secondary picketing, with customers asked by pickets not to shop in a store being picketed, would be legal at non-union liquor stores.

She said she is the only person devoting full-time to the effort in Granite City at this time, but that several Granite City supporters would aid in picketing.

If picketing begins, only a few of the liquor stores could be picketed at any one time, she said.

She added that her efforts have been confined to Granite City, thus far, and that she intends to expand the campaign into Madison and Venice in the near future.

She is among those who have picketed some grocery stores opposing sale of certain grapes and head lettuce.

Springfield Bureau

What does 1975 promise for Illinois state government and politics? Turbulence!

It's an exceedingly complicated affair.

Ordinarily, when one party wins a commanding majority in the House, as did the Democrats by capturing 101 seats to 76 for the Republicans, selection of the speaker is a routine affair.

But this year not only are the Democrats fiercely divided among themselves, but it is also possible that the decidedly minority Republicans may have a significant say in the matter.

It is virtually taken for granted that if the present Democratic floor leader, Clyde L. Chouteau of Anna, is to advance to the speakership, he is going to have to have some direct or indirect help or cooperation from the Republicans.

No matter how the speaker's fight is resolved, the 1975 legislature is going to be a divided and factionalized one, which makes effective lawmaking especially difficult.

This will make things tough for Gov. Dan Walker, who will have to make some kind of a record as governor in 1975, if he is to advance his ambitions of being considered a dark-horse Presidential candidate in 1976.

Furthermore, should the legislature turn out to be a fiasco and the Walker administration fail to cope with the many problems facing it, Walker might find himself an underdog for re-election, or even re-nomination, as governor next year.

But there are some at the Statehouse who say that no matter what happens, Big Dan will survive it and succeed in blaming whatever goes wrong on the Republicans or, perhaps, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and the regular Democrats.

The big issue facing the speaker's fight is resolved.

Walker's recent job freeze. But people expect a wide variety of state services, and how sharply can these be cut? In Springfield, as in Washington, the Democrats are clearly the party in power. If conditions don't improve, they will bear much of the blame in election year 1976.

For Illinois Republicans, still groggy from the November electoral drubbing, 1975 must be a year of rebuilding the party structure in order to take full advantage of any political breaks that may develop next year.

It will not be an easy job, for the state GOP has a number of factions and divisions that could block any major comeback in 1976.

There is one sure prediction for 1975. It won't be dull.

Illinois legislature, as is the case with every major industrialized state, is the economy.

Unemployment is a growing problem and not all the solutions can come from Washington. The states have an important role to play and an expanding army of jobs will demand action.

The question is: How to fight unemployment and create more jobs without raising taxes?

Most Americans still have jobs and find their lives already too much of a burden. They will not welcome any tax increase, even to help the unemployed guy next door.

Inflation, too, has pushed state government to its fiscal limits, as reflected by Walker's recent job freeze.
